
Helix Documentation

Release 1.0b1

Sasha Ouellet

Sep 28, 2018

Contents:

Helix is a show and asset management system designed to establish a useable pipeline for versioning, creating takes, and constructing dailies for a production. The system is meant to be used by any scope of project ranging from small solo projects to large collaborative films.

The user documentation found here will provide you with an understanding of how to setup Helix for the first time and how to get what you need out of it.

New users should start here

Developers looking to contribute to Helix can start here